History of Kandui

Established in 2004, Kandui Villas® was built from years of exploration and education in the best and worst surf havens across the globe. The result is an eco-friendly resort situated in one of the world's most famous surfing meccas.

Upon meeting in 1999 in Padang, West Sumatra, founders Aii and Jordan expressed the same dream – to live at sea on a charter boat in the beautiful Mentawai Islands. In discovering their love for each other, they also happened upon an affinity for the island while frequenting the area. The couple decided to make it their home, even raising their daughter, Kanna, on a charter boat from the age of 4 months until she was nearly 2 years old. As the boat grew too small to raise a family and host guests, Aii and Jordan decided to expand the dream to the island and Kandui Villas was born.

One of the world's premier surfing resort sites, Kandui Villas prides itself on the luxurious and authentic cultural surfing experience in a pristine, dream setting. The small, previously uninhabited island where Kandui Villas resides, Karamajat, is the most wave rich area in the world. Employment opportunities extend to the local Mentawai people, providing hundreds of jobs and injecting several hundreds of thousands of dollars into the Mentawai economy. With the support of surfers and travelers from around the world Kandui Villas has now starting a community help project in partnership with Waves4Water, in order to purchase, and distribute clean drinking water filters to remote village across the Mentawai Island chain.

BREATHE, RELAX & EMBRACE PARADISE

The Experience

For some, surfing is an activity. It's a lesson in control, discipline, coordination and timing. For others, surfing is a religion. The ocean is their church, the waves, their congregation. It satisfies the thrill-seekers appetite. It's a moment of Zen in an otherwise chaotic day.

Kandui Hotel & Resorts International provides an escape from the ordinary.
